

NO Reply

From: Denise Martz <martzdm@appstate.edu>
Sent: Thursday, October 31, 2019 3:54 PM
To: NO Reply
Subject: LPA and supervision

Hello Psychology Board,

In my 25 year career in Boone, I have supervised numerous LPAs. There is a tipping point in supervision whereby the LPA has gained experience and learned everything they will learn in this relationship. To make us more equivalent to MSWs and LPCs, I strongly support the ability of LPAs to earn their way out of supervision with experience and time. I am also aware that APA is now revisiting possible accreditation for master's level clinical programs to help meet the needs of society. Please consider voting to remove the lifetime supervision requirement for LPAs.

--

Denise Martz, Ph.D.
Kulynych/ Cline Distinguished Professor of Psychology
Licensed Psychologist & Health Services Provider
Appalachian State University
(828) 262-8953

Author of Fat Talk: A Feminist Perspective

